

Sever Toma POPA

DDS, PhD, Professor Consultant
Department of Prosthetic Dentistry
Faculty of Dental Medicine
"Iuliu Hașeganu" University of Medicine and Pharmacy Cluj-Napoca
Cluj-Napoca, Romania

In 1963 - graduated from Faculty of Dentistry Cluj (DDS). PhD title in 1972.

Specialized in Dental Prosthetics and Occlusion. Training: New York State University (1981); University of Florida; Ohio State University, USA. Member of New York Academy of Science, Romanian Medical Association (1964), Union Medical Balcanique (1977), European Prosthodontics Association (EPA) London (1993), International College of Prosthodontics, San Diego, California (2003) and Romanian Journal of Stomatology Editorial Board.

Research fields: Animal traumatic occlusion - experimental model in study of occlusion and periodontal trauma; Clinical studies of TMJ Dysfunction syndrome; Periimplant modification under occlusion load; Maxillo-mandibular relationship; Treatment methods in occlusion pathology. Interested in Pathology of partial edentulism, and Occlusion disorders and Fixed dental prostheses.

He has author of more then 80 publications and personal communications, and 5 books.