

Arnaldo CASTELLUCCI
MD, DDS, Professor
Micro-Surgical Endodontics School of Specialization in Oral Surgery
Università Federico II of Naples
Naples, Italy

Dr. Castellucci graduated in Medicine and Surgery at the University of Florence (1973) and he specialized in Dentistry and Prosthodontics at the same University (1977). Between 1978 -1980 he attended Continuing Education in Endodontics courses at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry with Prof. Herbert Schilder. Since 1979 his professional career has focused on Endodontics.

He lives in Florence where he has his private practice and his Micro-Endodontics Training Center.

Between 1983 -2000 he was a Visiting Professor of Endodontics at the Graduate Dental Course of the Università di Siena and between 2000- 2011 he was a Visiting Professor of Endodontics at the Graduate Dental Course of the Università di Firenze.

Since 2013 he has been a Professor of Micro-Surgical Endodontics at the School of Specialization in Oral Surgery at the Università Federico II of Naples.

He is Past President of the Italian Endodontic Society (SIE), Past President of the International Federation of Endodontic Associations (IFEA), Active Member of the European Society of Endodontology (ESE), and Active Member of the American Association of Endodontists (AAE).

He is a very well-known international lecturer with lectures all around the world.

He has been Editor of "The Italian Journal of Endodontics" and of "The Endodontic Informer", is now the Editor in Chief of Endo Tribune, Founder and President of the "Warm Gutta-Percha Study Club".

He published articles on Endodontics in the most prestigious Endodontic Journals.

He authored the three-volume textbook on "Endodontics", now available in English.

Research Interests: endodontics, micro-endodontics, micro-surgical endodontics.