

Asja Celebic
DDS, PhD, Professor
Department of Removable
Prosthodontics
School of Dental Medicine
University of Zagreb
Zagreb, Croatia

Prof. Ph.D. Asja Celebic graduated at the School of Dental Medicine, University of Zagreb in 1980. As a student she received 3 Rector Awards for research and as the best student. After a year of obligatory practise she has been employed at the School of Dental Medicine, Zagreb, where she still works as the Full Professor with tenure at the Department of Prosthodontics. She is the principal teacher of the course "Temporomandibular disorders ", and of 4 courses in the Master programme and the Ph.D. postgraduate programme. She received several awards at European and International Prosthodontic Conferences. She was the principal investigator of several research projects funded from Croatian Ministry of Science and Croatian Scientific Foundation including two International bilateral projects. She was invited as a speaker at many national and international conferences. In 2010 year she received the „Croatian State Award for Science“ for research in the field of Biomedicine and Health, as the first doctor of dental medicine in Croatia who received such honorable award. She also received the award from the Croatian Ministry of Health in 2015. She published over 150 CC/SCI papers, and has been cited over 1300 times in WoS, with the H index 22. She serves as a member of Editorial board in many scientific journals. She is a member of numerous professional Societies including the Croatian Academy of Medical Sciences.

Research interests: (1) prosthodontics; (2) dental implantology; (3) oral health related quality of life and other patient reported outcome measures; (4) gerodontology; (5)TMD