
	Poul Erik PETERSEN DDS, Dr Odont, BA, MSc (Sociology) Professor Department for Global Oral Health and Community Dentistry Centre for Health and Society Faculty of Health Sciences University of Copenhagen Copenhagen K, Denmark
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Poul Erik Petersen (PEP) is a Professor in Global Oral Health and Community Dentistry at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. He is a dentist and a sociologist and his academic background encompasses research in public health, sociology of health and illness, health promotion, disease prevention, global health, and translation of research. He has an extensive list of more than 350 scientific publications.

PEP has worked in enhancement of public health research in universities worldwide and in planning and implementation of community health projects in an extensive number of developed and developing countries.

PEP was elected Dean of the School of Dentistry at the University of Copenhagen and was a Vice-Director of the School of Public Health at the University of Copenhagen. He served WHO Headquarters as a Chief for the Global Oral Health Programme and the WHO Regional Office for Europe for several years and assisted ministries of health and public health administrators throughout the world.